

Cracking Spatial Apartheid

How social housing
could help remake
Cape Town

- Introduction
- Can Social Housing Save Woodstock-Salt River?
- Dream or Do?
- A Pathway to Implementation

NASHO is a federation of non-profit Social Housing Institutions in South Africa. Its purpose is to develop a strong and sustainable social housing sector providing well located quality rental accommodation to low and moderate income households contributing to greater socio-economic integration of South African cities.

ROOFTOPS CANADA, the international programme of the Canadian social and co-op housing sector is executing agent for the 2016-20 Equal Spaces project, co-funded with the Government of Canada, to revitalize inner-city communities with social housing.

DAG (The Development Action Group) is a non-governmental in 1986 with a focus on South African urban development and housing issues. DAG is a leading NGO in the field of urban development in South Africa and has been at the forefront of housing delivery and policy development within the urban development context for over 33 years. DAG's strategic objective is to demonstrate how working in partnership with citizens and other groups who share a pro-poor agenda can lead to creative and sustainable solutions that redress social, economic and spatial inequalities.

Cracking Spatial Apartheid

How social housing could help remake Cape Town

Published By:

NASHO, Rooftops Canada and DAG
7th Floor
51 Main Street
Marshalltown
Johannesburg
+27 11 492 1237
info@nasho.org.za
www.nasho.org.za

ISBN: 978-0-6398181-0-8

Text:

Lee Middleton and Catherine Stone

Photographs:

Barry Christianson

Layout:

Jane Keating

Contents

Introduction: Leveraging City Land to Re-imagine Integration

<http://www.nasho.org.za/wp-content/uploads/Introduction-Leveraging-City-to-re-imagine-integration.pdf>

How social housing could help remake Cape Town

Can Social Housing Save Woodstock-Salt River?

Re-imagining Woodstock and Salt River- A community centred approach to neighbourhood regeneration <http://www.nasho.org.za/wp-content/uploads/Re-imagining-Woodstock-and-Salt-River.pdf>

A community-centred approach to neighbourhood regeneration

Dream or Do?

<http://www.nasho.org.za/wp-content/uploads/Dream-or-Do.pdf>

A precinct planning approach to economic integration in Woodstock-Salt River Cape Town

A Pathway to Implementation

<http://www.nasho.org.za/wp-content/uploads/A-Pathway-to-Implementation.pdf>

Delivery mechanisms to support affordable housing-driven urban regeneration in Woodstock-Salt River

Front and back cover: Woodstock Main Road at peak hour

Right: Biscuit Mill scene

